First of all, on behalf of the faculty on health sari mulia university, it this our great pleasure to welcome you this morning turn to webinar Management Of Hypertensive Patients Post-Disaster. This event is organized by health faculty of sari mulia university, and it's the first international conference held by health faculty of sari mulia university. Ladies and gentleman, for your information according to data from world health organization, hypertension is a major cause of premature death worldwide.

In Indonesia, hypertension is a disease with the highest number of sufferers. As we know hypertension can attack anyone such as youth, adults, the elderly, and even pregnant women. This is our collective responsibility as academics, practitioners, researchers, and students majoring in health to jointly reduce the number of people with hypertension. One of our experiences when doing community service for the post-disaster affected community in Hantakan village and Alat village, Hulu Sungai Tengah district. We found that many people experienced post-disaster hypertension, which previously were not hypertensive patients.

And also, with conditions we are still in the covid 19 pandemic. Referring to the data from the Ministry of Health of the Republic of Indonesia, hypertension is the highest comorbid disease, it's more 50%.

Last from me, I would like to convey Stay safe and healthy, Get vaccinated as soon as it's your turn, Keep a safe distance and crowds, Wear a mask, and clean your hand regularly. That's all from me.

Wabillahi taufik wal hidayah, Wassalamualaikum Warahmatullahi Wabarakatuh
